This is a heavily discussed topic and most parents disagree on mobile handsets for children. They feel it is not the right age for the kids to have mobile phones as the handsets may also be used to make unnecessary calls, sms chats, browse net, play video games, watch movies, listen songs etc. This takes away the child from their academics and sports activity. Above all this radiation by the mobile phones may be harmful to the children. Most schools have banned usage of mobile phones inside their campus.

The parents want a way to be in touch with their child. All these may be because parents work or live at far off places and will not be able to communicate with their child when required or guide them during emergencies. An easy and available way is the mobile phones. They are aware of radiation fact and are ready to overlook it, as still there is no hard proof of radiation being harmful to children. The radiation fact may only be proven only in the long run.

Few mobile manufacturers have developed mobile phones exclusively for children. These mobile phones will be able to dial only 5 phone numbers including an Emergency Number. The required phone numbers on the mobile handset can be configured to Parents, Home, Brother / Sister, Grandpa / doctor numbers plus an emergency number. The numbers can be dialed using hot keys such that the child need not memorize the phone numbers. A relief to Parents, that the child will be able to call them when required.

Some mobiles with GPS (Global Positioning System) have an option to configure with boundaries. If the child crosses the designated boundary, the parents will receive text messages. With help of the longitude and latitude information in the text message, the current position of the child can be viewed on free Yahoo or Google maps. This brings more relief to parents such that the child is within the safety region. The main advantage of these handsets is that the child is within reach, within assigned safety area, and handset without video games or fancy stuffs, which keeps the parents happy.
